METRICALLY SPEAKING Mrs. Blue's fourth grade class at Appomattox Elementary School is as curious about measurement as you are! Terms like centimeters, meters, grams, liters and celsius thermometers permeated the air last week as students centimeter tapes in hand, documented and reported as many different measurements within their classroom as possible. Metric reporters photographed were: Becky Caldwell and Kevin Ranson using centimeters to measure height; Hugh Walthalle and Lee Randolph using centimeters to measure length and Anglia Harris and John Phelps using a celsius thermometer to measure water temperature.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

On December 30, 1981, Central Virginia Electric Cooperative (hereinafter "the Cooperative") filed with the State Corporation Commission an application requesting (a) an increase in the rates charged for electric service, (b) an increase in certain existing fees and approval of certain new fees, (c) approval of certain changes in its Terms and Conditions for Electric Service and (d) approval of a schedule for determining the rate to be paid by the Cooperative for power purchased from consumers operating small power production facilities. The Cooperative states that its application is intended to increase its annual revenues by $1,307,365.86, of which $1,229,602.78 is attributable to requested changes in rates for electric service and $77,763.08 is attributable to fees to cover related costs.

In support of its proposals, the Cooperative has filed narrative testimony and financial data for the 12 months ended August 31, 1981.

The Commission has suspended the effective date of the proposed changes and has scheduled a public hearing for 10:00 a.m. on April 23, 1982 in the Commission's Courtroom on the 13th Floor of the Jefferson Building (formerly the Blanton Building), Bank and Governor Streets, Richmond, Virginia for the purpose of receiving evidence relevant to the application.

Any interested party may review the application, together with the financial data and testimony offered in support of the application, during regular business hours at the Commission's Document Control Center, Floor B1, Jefferson Building, or at any office of the Cooperative where customer bills may be paid.

Any person wishing to make a statement in his own behalf, either for or against the application, need only appear in the Commission's Courtroom at 9:15 a.m. on the morning of the hearing. Such persons need not prefile any material. If any person wishes to comment in writing on the application, the comments must be filed with the Commission on or before April 23, 1982. Any correspondence directed to the Commission should be addressed to its Clerk, State Corporation Commission, Document Control Center, P.O. Box 2118, Richmond, Virginia 23216.

On or before February 19, 1982 copies of any additional testimony or exhibits to be relied upon by the Cooperative will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Document Control Center and at all offices of the Cooperative where customer bills may be paid.

On or before April 12, 1982, a Commission Staff report will be available for public review at the Commission's Document Control Center.

On or before April 12, 1982, all persons intending to present evidence, cross-examine witnesses or otherwise participate in this proceeding as protestants, in accordance with Rule 4:8 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, shall file an original and fifteen copies of (1) a Protest and (2) their prepared testimony and exhibits, directing same to the Commission's Clerk and serving a copy on Evans B.
